DR. NEWTON IS CHEERED IN WACO

"Our Town"

by J. B. WHITE

A research engineer connected with the film industry urges a more extensive use of motion pictures in the schools. Pictures, he says, will teach a child in half the time required for books to teach him.

It is an old argument, and probably gains few converts by repetition. Men who were brought up on the hard grind of Latin and mathematics will always refuse to believe that education comparable to theirs can be inculcated by lounging in a seat and gazing at flickering images on a screen. You can learn in that way how pictures look, and how things happen that are represented by the pictures, but you can't habituate yourself to the processes of abstract reasoning. You acquire ability to think only by thinking. Although you may not have known anything in particular when you got through Cicero and the binomial theorem, you did have a facility at managing your mind in connection with any phenomena which might arise thereafter.

Despite the opposition of the diehards, however, pictures are already shown in some schools, and for the spread of certain kinds of factual knowledge will probably be shown more. Meanwhile, it should be pointed out, the theatres offer a great many courses to supplement the old fashioned system of education.

They teach all of us, from infancy to old age, how to enter a drawing room, how to be a bandit, how to appear in a beauty contest, how to conduct one's self in a love affair, etc. It would take a long while to learn those matters through the formula, (A plus B) times (A plus B) equals A square plus 2AB plus B square.

Radio broadcasting will soon celebrate its sixteenth birthday anniversary. Within that short period of time the radio program and home receiving set as we know them today, have been developed. Nor is the industrial giant, the radio industry, any older than that.

Great is America's debt to radio. Sixteen years ago it was an impractical plaything. Today it is indispensable in countless ways, a source of pleasure, culture and information to the millions, the employer of thousands of men and women and a perfected mode of communication.

It has taken us, as a nation, a few years to convince ourselves that radio is not merely a luxury. One experience of not having radio when you want it is sufficient to bring complete conviction on that score.

This modern miracle is an instrument of many purposes and uses. It is indispensable to aviation, the railroads are using it, politics could not get along without it, no home is complete without one, it is the farmer's market ticker, and next to the newspaper, the greatest purveyor of entertainment, instruction and information to the people.

Radio, as we have it today, is capable of inspiring flights of fancy, but upon those men of science who gave it to us it had just the contrary effect. None of them saw in ether waves more than a means of studying certain physical phenomena. Marconi once said that 10 miles was the utmost range possible.

Some years ago when the use of the automobile became general, writers of the sensationally foreboding type frequently predicted that future generations might entirely lose the use of the legs. Just as fishes that live in cavern lakes might have lost the use of their eyes. The possibility seems no longer a matter of concern.

But unquestionably the general use of the automobile and extension of the good roads system is depriving American people of the lure of adventure and the thrill of sightseeing that once came as the result of good, hard exercise to attain these. A writer in Nature Magazine warns that making points of interest accessible and has been carried too far.

There is a compensation in attaining a glimpse of a waterfall or a

The Temple women's softball team tonight defeated the Cameron women's softball team 28 to 8 before a record crowd of more than 1500 people.

The game was an easy one for the Temple women after the third inning when Annabell Young of the Temple team knocked a home run.

The Yoe High school band furnished music for the occasion. Mrs. Radtke and Miss Moseley played an outstanding game during the entire seven innings. The Cameron Band was directed by a former Bell County boy, Francis Cox, who was on hand to meet all his Temple friends and visitors.

Cameron team will play Temple at Temple July 29. A request is being made for Cameron Yoe High school band to be at Temple for the occasion.—Temple Telegram.

WIGGLES

Wiggles is dead! The end came shortly after 9 o'clock on Monday night July 20, 1936, as she playfully crossed a street near her home. A speeding auto, a broken little body, a slight whimper . . . and silence. She went away where all good dogs go. Faithful and affectionate to the last, she died under the watchful care of those who had known the spirit of this great little dog.

Life has many emotions and man's history records them in the order of their importance. Each age has sung anew the story of "The Man and His Dog." Dependence of the weak upon the strong has no paralled in its appeal to sentiment. Literature is enriched by tributes called forth from Man by examples of loyalty shown by faithful dogs. In sunshine and in rain; when adversity stalks spectre like across your path and hunger becomes a companion on the road to despair; when friends forsake and all that was once happiness becomes a bitter memory, and your feet find a path to nowhere, and life is beyond retrieve, Man's Dog is there with him. He has never forsaken his Master, nor will the day ever come when a dog may fail to inspire in every honest man's heart the enobling sentiment that makes you struggle to put away tears when they lie dead at your feet, their spirit unexplained in the confusion of lasting impressions of a soft nose that loved you, and eyes that mirrowed loyalty and feeling deeper than we want to remember.

Wiggles is dead, but like all good dogs, will be a pleasurable memory to those who know and appreciate. She was the faithful and companionable pet of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bonds. In her veins flowed the blood of great forebears and to her was given in the strain of canine aristocracy an intelligence far beyond the average. A devotion, none may yet fathom, kept her heart set upon the business of seeing about her Masters. In the way of dogs she was helpful, and there grew for her an attachment symbolic of that affection by which Dogs have inspired human kind in all ages of the world.

On Tuesday morning Wiggles was buried in a small plot of ground adjacent to the flower garden, her tiny form secure in the moist earth, that kindred domain to which all things eventually shall return. A rose nodding in the light of early morning was sentiment of another kind; a small mound freshly made, though entombing Our Dog, is sentiment of a kind that tugs so hard we will always rememberr.

Charley Lockhart Midget Mayor for a Day

CHALLENGE TO FORD IS HURLED BY FRIENDS

Vote For Him

DR. W. R. NEWTON

Milam County will vote for Dr. Newton Saturday for the State Senate. It will be a unanimous verdict of confidence in his integrity and ability and a tribute to a useful life now called to larger fields of service. Milam county advances Dr. Newton to the District knowing that his election will justify every expectation and give the 13th District its first Milam county representative in over 40 years.

Dr. W. R. Newton, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate from the 13th District, in a spectacular political role Tuesday night in Waco, met the challenge of criticism and heard his life work, character and reputation, praised in mighty words of tribute by his fellow townsmen.

The rally, staged in the nature of a challenge to Bert Ford, candidate for the senate, who had made charges against Dr. Newton in a radio broadcast, failed to produce a joint discussion of the record. Ford did not appear as was expected and the meeting result was cheers for Newton and amazement that Ford did not appear to substantiate charges he had made or to defend his record vote in the house of representatives.

Piled high on a table near the micraphone where Dr. Newton outlined his platform and acknowledged the cheers of thousands, were records of the Legislature to which reference had been.

When it as known that Ford would not appear it was evident he was in for a blistering by the crowd. Dr. Newton, although expressing regret over personalities, was resolute in his challenge and time and time again called for Ford to come to the platform and make good. The McGregor candidate was laughed out of court and the meeting turned out to be a big ovation for the "Senator from Milam."

Hilton Howell, Waco attorney and former Cameron resident, introduced Dr. Newton and the speakers. He asked McLennan County to vote for Dr. Newton for State Senator.

Jim Baskin opened the program of tributes to Dr. Newton with praise for the man and his work among the people of Milam County.

Judge Graham Gillis in a speech that was applauded throughout told the story of Dr. Newton's life and presented him as the standard bearer of Milam County. He said for almost 50 years Waco had elected the sen-

"THE MOON'S OUR HOME"

The story of "The Moon's Our Home" deals with a spitfire of a screen star who learns to hate a man whose reputation as a world explorer and author has won him the admiration of millions of women. He, too, has learned to hate what he calls the "pastry-faced screen star." How they finally meet, without knowing each other's real identity, fall desperately in love, and have a really scrappy time of it, makes hilarious screen fare. Faith Baldwin wrote the original story.

No Certificates Of Exemption Required Under New Ruling

Roy Law, candidate for County Judge, has called attention of the Herald to a recent ruling by Attorney General of Texas on qualifications for voting. This information will be of great interest to voters in the primary election to be held on next Saturday and Mr. Law is to be congratulated on causing this information to be presented.

The effect of the new ruling by the Attorney General, just issued, is that no exemptions of any nature are required in Milam County. This means voters who believed that exemption receipts would be required may now go to the polls and vote without an exemption certificate and will be required to make affidavit with the election judge at the time of casting a ballot, stating their age, if requested.

LANDON TO ACCEPT NOMINATION THURS.

Topeka, Kans., July 20.— Gov. Alf M. Landon completed a 3,500 word acceptance speech today and planned two days relaxation with his family before Thursday's ceremonies formally designating him the republican presidential nominee.

A close adviser, in discussing the address in which Landon will open his campaign to oust the new deal, said from 35 to 40 minutes probably would be required to read its 3,500 words.

This confident said the address would contain no bitter criticism but would represent a pretty comprehensive treatment of present day problems. Probably half a dozen of these, he said, would be discussed in some detail, while other problems of a more complex nature would be left for detailed treatment in the future.

By comparison, the Landon adviser said President Roosevelt's acceptance speech in Philadelphia fell just short of 2,000 words, while Calvin Coolidge accepted the republican nomination in 1924 in approximately 7,200 words. There was no exact information on what problems Landon would emphasize. Observers expected special attention to be paid agriculture, relief, employment, government finance, money, tariff monopoly and the constitution.

FIERY BURGESS TO USE HORSEWHIP ON BOY DELINQUENTS

Mayor Cracks Down on Tough Boys and Promises to Stop Jaywalkers.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Fiery Joseph J. Lukasik, burgess of the Borough of Dupont, Pa., situated nine miles north of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in the anthracite coal fields, has changed his tactics in dealing with juvenile delinquents. He bought a horsewhip.

So far he has not used it, but he has made plenty of threats with the results that the "tough kids" of that town are less mischievous than they were a few weeks ago.

Lukasik, who has a few children himself, has resolved it is better to give the black sheep a whack where it will hurt most than excuse his bad habits with inaction.

Policemen Disliked.

Almost all male parents of children in Dupont work in the anthracite mines in the neighborhood and Dupont once enjoyed the reputation of one of the toughest towns in the county. Outbreaks during strikes of miners have been frequent and the children as well as the parents are not lax in their dislike of policemen.

During the latest strike there, the children used to stone state police, who were sent into the area to stop the picketing, riots and bombings which occurred.

Burgess Lukasik hit upon the novel idea of horsewhipping flippant youths a few weeks ago. He announced he would have the whip at the borough hall and the father of every boy brought in and found guilty of a misdemeanor would have to "lay it on."

A number were rounded up. Some of them were warned. Six habitual cut-ups were directed to appear before the burgess with their parents.

The boys came around with their fathers, but a crowd of curious from all parts of the county came around, too.

The burgess then postponed the punishment until the following day in the privacy of the boys' homes.

Burgess Displeased.

Burgess Lukasik was a little peeved at the public spectacle the whippings might have caused and he was probably displeased at the lack of hearty co-operation of parents, for a few days later he hit upon another horse whipping idea. He'd get jaywalkers.

There were many complaints from autoists at the time about jaywalking on one of the main highways into the town.

So far nobody has been whipped for it but Burgess Lukasik is going to see that it is done.

He drives up and down the highway at dusk when the jaywalking and pedestrian traffic is heaviest with a horse whip alongside of him. When he spies a law-violating pedestrian he comes gently to a stop and touches the male neatly on the back end with a crack of the whip. Being "the law" and a fairly big fellow, besides, he has no fear of pedestrians.

Find Orphan Chained and Locked in Stocks

New Orleans—Authorities investigated the imprisonment of 13-year-old Johnny Morris, an orphan, in a set of handmade stocks such as Puritans used on prisoners.

Johnny was confined in the back yard of his home to keep him from running away and playing with neighbor boys. Police, called in by a kind-hearted neighbor, rescued the boy and said they would consult the district attorney's office.

The boy lived with an aunt, Mrs. Louise Klein, who has cared for him since he was 3 months old. She said her son, Robert, 23 years old, a WPA worker, made the stocks three weeks ago because Johnny "kept chasing around the neighborhood and twice fell in the bayou" nearby.

Mrs. Klein said the boy never spent more than an hour in the stocks. When police found him, he was seated against a backyard fence, each wrist wedged into a groove in a 4 by 8 piece of wood along which a lighter board had been nailed. Chains also were on the boy's wrists, police said.

Johnny said the stocks didn't hurt.

Armless "Boy Wonder" Is Expert Tap Dancer

McCallen, Tex. — Lupe Barrate, armless "boy wonder" of McCallen, won first prize in a tap-dancing contest in San Antonio, adding another feat to his list of accomplishments.

Deprived of his arms when struck by a train here eighteen years ago, Lupe has learned to do nearly everything for himself except to button his shirts and comb his hair.

He has rescued four persons from drowning and is considered an excellent swimmer and wrestler.

Lad Quits Growth at 18, a Mere Eight Feet Tall

Alton, Ill. — Robert Wadlow, eighteen-year-old giant, appears to have stopped growing. His height today is eight feet four inches, exactly what it was on his birthday, Feb. 22. His weight is 390 pounds, exactly what it was nearly three months ago. He is taking a pre-law course at Shurtleff College here.

Bryan Pilot Dies In Dusting Crash

BRYAN, July 20.—Pilot James Daniels died in the blazing wreckage of his plane today when a wing of the ship, skimming low over a cotton field he was "dusting," topped a weed hidden stump.

The wing ripped off and the plane flipped over, pinning the 31-year-old flier in the cockpit. Before help could reach him, flames had ended whatever chance he had to survive the crash.

Daniel's death was the first fatality among the pilots who spend several months each year on Brazos valley plantations "dusting" cotton fields with insect-killing chemicals. His ship was wrecked on the George G. Chance plantation 10 miles from Bryan.

Earlier this year two other pilots crashed their ships, one plane burning, but both fliers escaped injury.

E. L. HUSK, 63, FOUND DEAD NEAR ROCKDALE

Edward L. Husk, 63, was killed at about five o'clock Friday morning at his home in the Hamilton Chapel-Sandow community, by a charge from a shotgun. A coroner's verdict indicated suicide.

Leo Harris, justice of the peace, was called to the home early Friday morning. He stated that Husk's body was found near a hog pen in the yard, and a charge from a double-barrel 12 gauge shotgun had entered the body just below the left breast. The gun was found with a string tied to the trigger, Harris said.

Harris said Mrs. Husk told him she awoke about 5 a. m. and found her husband was not in the house. She called him, and as she was dressing she heard the shot, and hurried into the yard where she found his body. Mr. Harris held the inquest about 7:30 a. m. and rendered a verdict of suicide.

Edward Lafett Husk was born February 28, 1873. It was said that he had been in ill health for some time and was despondent. Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon, with burial at Salty and the services were conducted by Rev. Williard Brown of Arkansas.

Husk is survived by his wife and one daughter.—Rockdale Reporter.

Who Has Spread False Accusations?

DID BOB POAGE

Vote for or Against the Old People?

In a sheet signed by HON. FRANK B. TIREY, candidate for Congress he says:

"I shall appreciate the vote of every person, but shall not make or countenance the making of false accusations against or about my opponents to get votes."

Yet in almost every speech Mr. Tirey or his cohorts have made in the past ten days he and they have charged that Senator W. R. Poage was the author of the amendment to the pension law to deny pensions to old people with children able to support them. On last Sunday, the Waco News Tribune published the following account of Mr. Tirey's Valley Mills speech:

"Tirey cited the legislative record by book an dpage as proof that . . . Poage introduced an amendment to the old age pension bill which would require that the support children might be able to give to old age applicants be investigated before a pension should be granted. This amendment, Tirey said, was finally defeated.

That amendment would have meant, said Tirey, 'That if an old man applying for pension had a married son who had an extra room at his house, the state would tell the old man to go live with nis son, and could bar him from relief; no matter what the old man's daughter-in-law might think about it."

WHAT DOES THE RECORD SHOW?

Mr. Tirey, who says he would not countenance any false accusations against his opponents to get votes must have some other motive in mind because the very page which he quotes is found in the Senate Journal, Second Called Session of the Forty-Fourth Legislature, pages 27 and 28 and this record reads as follows:

'It shall be the duty of the Director to investigate the ability and willingness of the component members of said applicant's immediate family to assist in the support and maintenance of said applicant and to modify and adjust the assistance for such applicant in accordance with evidence found!

ONEAL
POAGE"

On page 28 of the same Journal we find that the record shows that the amendment was adopted by a vote of 13 yeas to 11 nays with Poage voting yea. Thus we find that Mr. Tiery not only falsely accused Bob Poage of doing the very thing that Poage prevented, but also misrepresented the final action on the amendment in the Legislature. DID he do this "TO GET VOTES?"

WHO FOUGHT FOR THE OLD PEOPLE?

Bob Poage was one of the two men who actually STRUCK OUT the language Mr. Tirey complains of. If Mr. Tirey does not like what Poage did, he has a right to criticise, but LET HIM TELL THE TRUTH about what Poage did. The Shivers amendment (Page 25) later became the Senate Bill, and if it had not been for Senator Poage the bill would have contained the very language Mr. Tirey complains of. Bob Poage has been fair with the old people, and has not tried to misquote the record. Bob Poage voted for the old age pension and offered a natural resource tax with which to PAY THE BILL.

What has Mr. Tirey EVER done for the old people?

Was Mr. Tirey actuated by IGNORANCE or MALICE when he told the people that Bob Poage tried to do the very thing that Poage prevented from being done?

If Mr. Tirey was so ignorant of the effect of the Legislative amendments that he could not understand an amendment that said "the language TO BE STRUCK OUT being as follows . . . ." then he is too ignorant to properly represent this district.

If Mr. Tirey deliberately sought to deceive the people about the facts in this matter, can you rely on any other representations that he may make?

If he will make a misleading statement in this particular how can the people believe any of the mud, muck, and slime that he and his henchmen have been throwing at Bob Poage?

DESPERATE LEPERS MURDER SEVEN IN PHILIPPINE ISLES

Soldiers Hunt Six Who Escaped From Colony and Terrorized the People.

Manila, P. I.—A pall of terror hung over the island of Palawan, as soldiers and constabulary still searched blindly for six desperate lepers who escaped from the leper colony at Culion.

The six men, who seized a boat from terrified fishermen, and looted houses on the islands several days ago, to sail hurriedly away when they learned they were being hunted by the authorities, were believed to be knocking about somewhere among the scores of islands that form the southern portion of the great Philippine archipelago.

Slay Seven in Escape.

In their mad dash for freedom from the leper colony, where they were under surveillance, but were not imprisoned, the six killed seven men. After they had left the colony, they embarked on a rampage of robbery, with the natives on whom they preyed, too frightened by their dread disease to capture them.

Their first stop after leaving Palawan was at Aboabo Island, where according to reports to the constabulary headquarters here, they murdered three natives and robbed their huts.

Reports of their depredations after that were few and confusing, due to the lack of communications facilities in the southern islands.

Largest Leper Colony.

Culion, the Philippine leper colony, is the largest establishment of its kind in the world.

Leprosy, although incurable for centuries, is the subject of intense study by scientists, and a cure is still being hoped for.

A new and more hopeful era in the 3,000-year-old leprosy problem has been opened up since 1910 by discovery of an improved treatment of at least the earlier stages of the disease. It remains a great scourge, however, recent estimates placing the world's lepers at two or three millions.

The greatest number are in tropical and subtropical Africa and Asia. Leprosy is most prevalent in hot damp climates and least in very dry areas. It is common in South America, the West Indies, and certain isolated regions of Europe, as well as Asia and Africa. Africa has the greatest number in proportion to population.

Damage Caused by Moths Amounts to $200,000,000

New York—Damage by moths to clothing, furs, carpets and furniture in the United States is placed at $200,000,000 by the National Association of Insecticide and Disinfectant Manufacturers. This figure was arrived at from reports from entomologists and exterminators, and statistics gathered from the textile, fur, insecticide and other industries. The association says:

"The moth now knows no season, and, contrary to popular belief, readily breeds throughout the winter in heated homes.

"In England, whence our clothes moths originally came (there were none in North America before the coming of the white man) there are but two generations of moths a year—in the spring and in the fall. English homes are generally poorly heated and not favorable to development of insect life.

"In many American homes there are now three, or even four, generations of moths a year."

Waiters in Rumania Are Ordered to Shave Heads

Bucharest.—All waiters must have their heads shaved states a regulation of the Rumanian ministry of public health.

This decree caused considerable excitement among the personnel of restaurants and cafes who consider themselves insulted by the implication that their cleanliness is in question. They have threatened to strike.

After long discussions, the union of Rumanian waiters agreed to have their heads shaved, on condition that their employers should not force them to wear evening dresses, stiff collars and shirts during the hot summer months.

A compromise was reached and while the waiters will be obliged to appear with heads as smooth as billiard balls, they will be allowed to wear soft white shirts and collars, light, white jackets and black trousers.

ESTIMATES OF TAX VALUES ARE DELAYED

Austin, Texas, July 16.—The Comptroller's department said today that 43 county tax assessors had not filed estimates of taxable values, which likely will force the automatic tax board to delay setting ad volorem rates for several days.

Reports of assessors to the comptroller were due yesterday. The tax board is directed by statute to meet five days later and set property tax rates for general revenue, confederate pension and school purposes.

A. P. Dooley, chief clerk in the comptroller's department, said it was likely the board, comprising the governor, treasurer and comptroller, would meet as required July 20, but would recess until calculations necessary in fixing the rates had been completed.

In recent years the rates have not been set until August and one year it was September. Dooley said the renditions were being received this year more promptly than in the past.

With the general revenue pension funds burdened with deficits of approximately $14,000,000, it was believed the rates would be retained at the constitutional maximum of 35c and 7c respectively.

Interest centered on the school rate, which this year was 20c, fifteen cents less than the moximum. The board of cuucation set a per capita apportionment of $19, an increase of $1.50 from last year. Some board members contended the 20c rate would yield a sufficient amount to pay the increased apportionment, while others predicted a boost would be necessary.

Dallas County was the only one of the four biggest counties whose rendition has not been received. Others were Gillespie, McCulloch, Milam, Andrews, Baylor, Briscoe, Brown, Castro, Childress, Coke, Collingsworth, Crane, Crockett, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Falls, Fischer, Franklin, Gaines, Glasscock, Gray, Grimes, Hardin, Henderson, Hill, Houston, Howard, Karnes, Kauffman, Kinney, La Salle, Lipscomb, Loving, Marion, Midland, Nacogdoches, Oldham, Rockwall, Rusk, Schleicher, Terrell and Titus.

The Cameron Icers go into the tournament with one of the best aggregation of Semi-pro ball players that has been assembled in Cameron in many years. The Icers should not be short of pitchers as they have Pen Zoch an old stand by in this Central Texas Semi-pro baseball. There will be in the line-up such heavy hitters as Pete Dowling, Swede Lind, Ed Olle, and John C. Munro. Potsy Allen will be a most important brain truster on the field and behind the bat.

Record Enrollment At Short Course

COP HALTS BANDITS' CAR, SCOLDS DRIVER

Learns of $50,000 Stickup After It's Too Late.

New York—Escaping from a $50,000 street holdup, the driver of a bandit car was halted by a motorcycle patrolman here today and lectured for making an improper turn.

The patrolman, unaware the car had been used in a bold robbery a few minutes earlier, gave the driver a ticket for failing to renew his operators' license and permitted him to continue.

A few moments afterward the policeman learned that the driver was one of four armed men who held up two bank employes at Washington avenue and Claremont parkway, the Bronx, and escaped with $50,000 in cash.

The bank employes, Theodore Frank, assistant manager, and Arthur Parrilli, a teller of the National Safety Bank and Trust company branch bank, stopped their coupe at the corner for a traffic light. On the back of the seat lay a manila envelope containing $50,000 in small denominations, which they were transferring to another bank.

While they were waiting for the light to change, a sedan with four men drew up alongside. Three of them got out and stepped on the running board of the coupe.

None of the bandits uttered a sound. One of them reached in the window and seized the manila envelope. Then they stepped back in their own machine and, as the light had changed to green, drove off.

Shortly afterward Motorcycle Patrolman John Wilkins was cruising along Crotona park, South, when he saw a sedan with two men inside emerge from the park and turn south.

As such a turn is against traffic regulations, he drove his motorcycle up beside the machine and asked to see the driver's license. It was handed over promptly and, when he saw it had expired May 31, he wrote out a summons.

As he did so, he said, the other occupant of the car climbed out and strolled away, saying to the driver: "Well, I'll be seeing you, pal."

A quarter of an hour later the patrolman received the alarm of the holdup and recognized in the description of the bandits' machine the one he had stopped.

Rumania Bars All Bets, Except on Horse Races

Bucharest—A drastic decree, signed by King Carol, has put an end to gambling in Rumania.

In Bucharest alone there were no less than 230 houses where one could plunge at roulette, baccarat, poker, dice—any form of betting was officially authorized, provided the owners of the "club" paid their taxes.

Apart from the gambling houses, which grew like mushrooms in the large cities, Rumania's summer resorts boasted the most elegant casinos in the Balkans. In short, Carol's kingdom was a gamblers' paradise.

To curb the betting mania which recently gained alarming proportions in this country and was the cause of numerous suicides and sensational embezzlements, parliament voted unanimously the prohibition of gambling—except horse racing—and King Carol signed the decree.

Rescues Drowning Boy; Fears Spanking at Home

New York—William Hunt, 15 years old, and four feet ten inches tall, rescued a younger boy from drowning in the stage barge canal off Henry street, Brooklyn, this afternoon and then took two policemen home with him as witnesses. William had been told not to go in the water and he feared his heroism would not be rewarded at home, except by a hair brush.

Get Rid of Poisons
Produced by Constipation

A cleansing laxative—purely vegetable Black-Draught—is the first thought of thousands of men and women who have found that by restoring the downward movement of the bowels many disagreeable symptoms of constipation promptly can be relieved. . . Mr. J. P. Mahaffey, of Clinton, S. C., writes: "I have found that Black-Draught is very affective in the cleansing of the system. When affected by the dull headache, the drowsiness and lassitude caused by constipation, I take Black-Draught."

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

TIME CHANGES

The old time country doctor with his saddle bags is almost a thing of the past. He was a mighty welcome asset in his day.

During those days you dropped into a drug or jewelry store and fitted yourself with a pair of glasses.

Things are different now. You want someone who is capable to examine your eyes and give you the proper correction for each eye.

With new and improved instruments it is no longer guess work in fitting the exact lenses you need.

NEWLYWEDS SEEK VAGABOND LIFE IN SOUTH SEA ISLES

Shortage of Money Forces Them to Honeymoon on Tropical Fruit.

San Francisco—The flight of two Michigan couples from a life of conventionalities has ended in conventionality, but they are not downhearted.

Last March Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hogan and Mr. and Mrs. Murill F. Walls of Pontiac, Mich., were married in a double ceremony and thereupon resolved to become vagabonds on the face of the earth, more or less. They had saved some money and were going as far as it would take them. Then they would earn some more or find some way to continue a life free of prosaic wage slavery. The first stop was Tahiti in the South Sea isles, land of pagan romance. Meanwhile they would collaborate in a book, "Life in Progress," in which they lived the plot.

On the boat trip from San Francisco Mrs. Walls became ill and a physician advised that the "wonderful" Tahitian climate would not be good for her. The Walls took the first boat back. Walls had given up a job as high school teacher. They went to live with his parents.

The Hogans proved to be of sterner stuff until their money ran out. Then they got out their return steamship tickets, purchased just to "play safe."

Actual Cash Needed.

Back in San Francisco Hogan exclaimed: "Disillusioned? I should say not. Life in a grass hut is all that it's cracked up to be. Unfortunately, everybody—even the natives—have to spend a little actual cash. I'd say about $25 a month for an American couple is enough. . . . We're going back."

After three days in Papeete the Hogans went to the nearby island of Moorea. They found someone owned all the land, and had to rent a strip of palm fringed beach for $1.50 a month. Natives built them a grass shack for $20. Shortage of money forced them to honeymoon on raw fish, bananas, limes, coconuts, wild oranges, and breadfruit.

But they were shocked to find three automobiles on Moorea. They also found about 20 Americans and Europeans living like natives on Moorea and others, more civilized, living at Tahiti. They found no insects or snakes to bother them.

Meanwhile in Washington, D. C., Samuel W. King, delegate to congress from Hawaii, unfurled a map and charted a better course for folks who want to get away from it all.

"These people, who romantically set sail for some far distant island hoping to find a new life usually end up in disillusionment at a resort," said King. "The trouble lies in not picking the right spot."

Full of Romance.

He pointed to a little red dot labeled "Palmyra."

Explaining that Palmyra is about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii in the Pacific, Delegate King said it had all that adventuring romanticists should desire.

"The place has wonderful coconuts and huge crabs that are as tender as chicken."

He said that both are plentiful, but that neither get in your way.

"As a matter of fact, these fine crabs are a double boon. They climb the coconut trees and clip off the coconuts. All a lazy man has to do to get by is to collect the coconuts and then bean the crab with one when he descends."

King also recommends Laysan.

"This little island," he asserted, "has no crabs or nuts, but it has wild rabbits. The last time I was there you did not have to hunt them. They would come up to you."

Another choice is Nehio. The attractions there are wild potatoes and excellent loulou palms with which a house can be built over night.

"When I hear of people going off to all of these conventional places for romance," King said, "I think about these little islands and sigh. They don't know what they are missing."

Tot Loses Her Balance and Drowns in Cistern

Chicago—Josephine Fini, five, had never seen a cistern.

The other day she took her journey into the world of curiosity and it cost her life.

Playing with other children in the yard of Sam Anselmo, whom her parents were visiting at 2038 Ridge road, Homewood, Josephine toddled away and peered into what to her was a new world.

She lost her balance, drowned, and, oddly enough, the cistern lid fell back in place. When her frantic parents could not locate her they notified police and an investigation revealed the body in the well.

Dominick, the father, is heartbroken and so are Josephine's brother, Peter, and her mother, Jean.

Fire Aids Cheat

ICERS TAKE ANOTHER FROM WACO IDEALERS

The Cameron Icers took a trip to Waco to bring home the bacon from the Waco Idealers in a return game last Sunday, the score being 7 to 6 for the Icers.

Mike Ducey, a left handed pitcher for Waco and doing a nice job of it, held the Icers to 5 hits. Lefty Riddle pitched the first six innings for the Icers, allowing them five hits.

Derden Wofford went in to replace Riddle after the 6th inning as Wofford was in need of a little practice in view of the tournament coming up this week. Waco made a run in the first inning and two runs in the second inning. They looked like a tough bunch at that time as Riddle had not struck his stride yet. In the third inning, the Icers turned loose the artillery and batted around. Munro hit a double and Pinckney, Icer's new second baseman, hit a homer with two men on bases. The Icers netted 7 runs in the third inning. From the third on it was a pitcher's battle with the Idealers working hard to come from behind.

The Idealers made a run in the 8th inning and threatened to tie the score in the ninth, but McGinty tried to stretch a two base blow into a three bagger and was thrown out.

Batteries for Waco were Ducey and Clanton and for Cameron were Riddle, Wofford and Allen. Ducey struck out two men and walked 4. Riddle struck out three men, walked three, hit one.

Wofford struck out two men walked two. Waco got eight hits and Cameron five hits.

Score by innings:

Cameron	007	000	000—7
Waco	120	000	012—6

Two base hits: Strum, McGinty and Munro. Home runs, Pinckney.

Man's Pants Catch Fire; Money Burns

Madison, Ind.—Earl Smetley, North Madison, suffered burns on his legs and lost a roll of paper money when his trousers were partly burned after a car he was driving burst into flames. A leaking gasoline line was given as the cause. Smetley jumped from the car and was forced to remove part of his clothing to save himself from further injury.

FIX SNAKE'S EYES AT RISK OF DEATH

Daring Surgeons Operate on Poisonous Reptile.

New York—Three agile snake surgeons have risked agonizing deaths in performing the most dangerous reptile operation ever attempted—removal of an eyecap from the head of a deadly king cobra.

The operation was done just once before by hand in this country, and then by the same trio.

Staged as a press feature of the first International Snake Exposition, the remarkable surgery was successfully performed by Chief Surgeon Arthur Greenhall, Assistants Douglas Sullivan and Roy Allen.

Tensest scene of the operation came in the business of snaring the giant six-and-a-half-foot cobra.

Slowly, Greenhall moved his right hand within a foot of the poisonous viper's head. His left hand meanwhile maneuvered above and in back of the diamond-shaped skull.

The snake weaved its head menacingly at the hand in front of him. Greenhall shot his left hand swiftly to the cobra's neck. He and his audience breathed long sighs. His grip rendered the snake harmless as long as he held on.

Quickly, then, Allen clutched the body and tail of the cobra. At a signal from the chief surgeon, Sullivan aimed a pair of tweezers at a tiny scale above the snake's right eye. A jerk and it was off. The same for the one over the left. Then it was over.

Cobras shed their entire skin at least once a year, it was explained. When not in captivity, the scale above each eye goes with the discarded skin, but for some mysterious reason the scales remain to obliterate the snake's sight when they are caged. These scales are called eyecaps.

Bank Installs Device to Foil Robber Guns

Oran, Ia.—The Oran Savings Bank has adopted an "electric guard" invented by an Iowa farmer to protect its workers from gunfire in event of a holdup.

The guard was designed and patented by Charles H. Rohrig, Oelwein farmer.

The installation here is the first use made of the "burglar proof" mechanism since it was patented by Rohrig in 1933. Bank employes, when faced by bandits, have only to press an electric button to be shielded on all sides by an eight-foot high bullet-proof shutter and mesh.

The enclosure within which the bank employes work is permanently enclosed in a steel wire netting. The upper half is of bullet-proof steel mesh. The lower half is intended only as a shield and is constructed of lighter mesh.

No Fishing Licenses, So He Buys One to Wed

Rock Island, Ill.—Next to fishing, Harvey Evans of Texarkana, Tex., likes marriage best. In Rock Island with a carnival company, Evans went to the county clerk's office to purchase a fishing license and take advantage of the proximity of the Mississippi and Rock rivers.

Informed that the county clerk didn't sell fishing licenses but did dispense marriage licenses, Evans said:

"Well, if I can't go fishing I might as well get married. Gimme one of 'em."

The woman's name on the license was Lottie Freeman, also of Texarkana and also a member of the carnival troupe.

Police Find "Burglar" Feeding Six Kittens

Lynn, Mass.—Nearly a score of police officers scurried to a warehouse after a burglar alarm had gone off.

When the police arrived on the scene they found Joseph Lee, an employe of the drug company, feeding a mother cat who had just given birth to a litter of six kittens. Lee had notified fellow employes he was planning to feed the cat, but had forgotten to mention the fact to police and the A.D.T. burglar system office.

NEWTON AND FORD IN WACO DEBATE

Challenge to a joint debate growing out of statements made relative to record votes cast by Bert Ford of McGregor, member of the house at Austin, was issued by Dr. W. R. Newton, recently and both candidates met in Waco on Tuesday night to debate the Ford record.

The following letter was issued by Dr. Newton who challenged Ford to the debate:

"Yon have made a statement and had it published that your opponents are maliciously or ignorantly misrepresenting your record. I notice that you put the word "opponents" in the plural.

"I want to state to you that I have never misrepresented any part of your record at any time. I am having printed in some of the papers how you voted on a number of issues. I am giving the number and volume of the House Journal, the number of the Bill and the page on which the vote can be found.

"I invite you and challenge you to meet me in person in debate on the Court House Lawn at Waco, at 8:00 P. M., Tuesday, July 21, so the people may know the facts from the record.

With kindest regards, I am
Yours Sincerely,

Firemen Are Called to Unscramble Eggs

Sacramento, Cal.—"Joined the force to be a fireman—not a bloomin' 'egg unscrambler,'" Fire Capt. William McGraw complained. McGraw's complaint came after his company had been called on an emergency run to wash streets following a truck crash which precipitated 17,000 eggs, cracking and scrambling all over the thoroughfare.

LOCH NESS MONSTER MOVES TO FRANCE

Credited With Being the Thing That Frightens Town.

Paris—Several of the eyewitnesses to the antics of the monster of Loch Ness in the summer of 1934 affirmed that he was an amphibian. This is now apparently substantiated by Le Petit Parisien of the French capital, which also explains why the landlords and their guests at Inverness last summer looked for the return of the monster in vain—in spite of the allegation of a chief constable from a Sotheron town that he had really seen the monster.

According to the Paris paper's veracious correspondent posted at Limoges, the Loch Ness monster has been observed twenty miles due south of the pottery town, in the forest of Palzou, where Gustave Dore is said to have made the original sketches for the illustrations to Dante's "Inferno."

"If you cast your eye over a road-map of France in search of districts where the means of communication are rare," writes the equally veracious Paris correspondent of The Observer of London, "you will find few where the space is so blank as the country due south of Limoges, the country of the Bas-Limosin and the Haut-Quercy.

"There are other parts of France where there are wide stretches of what may almost be called virgin forest; but there are few which are so wild as the forest of Palzou. Some of it is still almost impenetrable. The few inhabitants of the villages on its outskirts—villages, most of whose names end in 'ac'—regard it as a sinister and mysterious place.

"They are as ready as their forefathers of the Middle Ages to believe that strange monsters still find shelter within the borders. Indeed, they are convinced that they have, if not seen, at least heard such a monster within the last few weeks.

"The terrifying and indescribable cry to which the thing gives utterance has waked several solid farmers from their sleep and made their hair stand on end with fear. More than one of them has summoned up courage to take his gun and go out. None has yet seen the animal, but all are agreed that the weird sound which it makes is that of no known beast or bird."

Brings to Light Archaic Laws Still in Existence

New York—Do you know—

That in Chaseville, N. Y., it is illegal to drive a goat cart past a church on Sunday "in ridiculous fashion?"

That in Zion City, Ill., it is a crime to make ugly faces at any one?

That in Kentucky burglary can be committed only in the night time?

That in Portland, Me., you must not tickle a girl under the chin with a feather duster?

That in California you may not enter a tavern on horseback?

That in Waterloo, Neb., barbers are not permitted to eat onions between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.?

Well, they are laws, every one of them, it is disclosed in Dick Hyman's amusing new book entitled "It's the Law."

Hyman has spent several years of research to bring to light the archaic, irrelevant and fatuous laws and ordinances which still exist.

His discoveries fill a volume of 120 pages and they prove hilariously funny as well as enlightening.

Hen Adopts Five Kittens; Drives Off Mother Cat

Racine, Wis.—A motherly hen on the Wesley Roberts farm on the Durand road forcibly took a litter of five new born kittens from their mother some time ago, and has maintained possession of them since despite efforts of the cat to reclaim them.

The hen built a nest for the kittens in a manger. The mother cat is only allowed to come to this nest to nurse the offspring. At all other times, the hen fights off the rightful mother.

When the cat, during a temporary absence of the hen, carried the kittens to another part of the farm the hen, after much searching, found them there and brought them back to the manger.

ator and that it was but fair to yield this honor to Milam, the parent county. He presented the candidate as the man best qualified to serve because of his ability, character and integrity. Judge Gillis said he was voicing the protest of all Milam county at charges made by Bert Ford which he said had questioned the integrity of Dr. Newton; that the people of Milam county are for him because they know him best.

On the platform sat a number of prominent local citizens. Among them H. M. Hefley, cashier of the First National Bank and Secretary Paden of the Chamber of Commerce.

Superintendent E. A. Perrin of the Cameron schools and Superintendent Miles of the Rockdale schools both paid tribute to Dr. Newton. Dan Tyson, city secretary and treasurer, urged the people of McLennan county to vote for Dr. Newton.

N. C. Gandy, farm leader from Milam, delivered a warm tribute to Dr. Newton based upon 36 years of acquaintance and friendship. He said 5000 farmers in Milam county will vote for Dr. Newton.

Doss Hardin, candidate for the Senate, delivered a blistering indictment of Ford for his tactics and praised Dr. Newton for his reputation and liberality in giving him the use of the micraphone for the address.

Cameron's famous Yoe High school band played music for the rally and was applauded frequently.

The rally climaxed a tour made by about 30 automobiles through the district.

At the close of the rally local candidates announced to the crowd.

Dr. Newton was shaking hands with voters an hour after the meeting had closed. Close observers believe the Milam candidate will win in the first primary.

He has always stood for helping the farmer. He knows the farmer's problems. He grew up on a farm and has engaged in farming for many years. He knows what it takes to aid the farmer.

He is a man of ability and courage. He is willing and able to serve the people.

He is an outstanding citizen of Central Texas; a splendid lawyer of wide experience for 20 years.

Frank Tirey announced for Congress after many farmers and business men throughout this District demanded that he run as a patriotic duty to his country.

W. R. Poage's Record

While serving as State Senator at Austin, Poage represented powerful trucking corporations FOR PAY. He represented these special interests instead of the people. He voted to raise the load limit so that their trucks could carry 20,000 pound loads instead of 7,000 pounds as the law provided (See pages 1198 of the Senate Journal of the Regular Session of the 42nd Ligislature.)

Poage voted AGAINST the immediate payment of the Old Age Pension.

Poage voted THREE TIMES AGAINST allowing the people to vote on the Bread Bonds, and finally changed his vote when he saw it was going to pass anyway. (See Senate Journal Regular Session Texas Legislature 1933, pages 1558, 1581 and 1598.)

Poage has had no experience whatever as a farmer or a business man. He claims to be a lawyer but he has not tried as many as six District Court cases in his life. He came out of school running for office and has been running ever since.

"Flying Laboratory" for Amelia Earhart

This Lockheed all-metal monoplane was built at Burbank, Calif., as a "flying laboratory" for Amelia Earhart on order from the Amelia Earhart Fund for Aeronautical Research, and the famous flyer is seen inspecting it. After tests and trial flights she will fly it to Purdue university, Indiana, where the program of research will be carried out. The plane is powered with two Pratt and Whitney Wasp engines of 550 horsepower each, driving Hamilton constant speed metal propellers. Instead of passenger seats, it carries additional fuel tanks for extended non-stop flights. Special instruments include a Sperry robot pilot, de-icing appliances on the leading edge of the wing and stabilizer, and a new type fuel analyzer which enables fuel consumption to be kept at a minimum under all flying conditions. Radio homing device and two-way radio telephone are also installed in the pilot's compartment.

ALLRED OUTLINES HIS RECORD ACHIEVEMENT

The City of Cameron entertained Governor James V. Allred on Wednesday night of last week. Governor Allred made his first appearance at seven o'clock at a banquet given by the Lions Club in his honor at the Ada Henderson school. An hour later he spoke before one thousand or more people in the Yoe High School Auditorium, and later attended a dance at the National Hall in this city, where Adolf and the Gold Chain Bohemians were playing. He spent the night in Cameron as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gaither.

Early Wednesday afternoon a committee composed of Jim Baskin, Phillip Reid and Tracy Hobson of this city went to Granger and escorted Governor Allred to Cameron.

At the banquet E. C. Cole was toastmaster. Guests were present from San Antonio, Rockdale, Thorndale, San Gabriel, Temple. Billy Burke, the Governor's secretary, was present for the banquet and made a short talk. Jim Baskin introduced Governor Allred, who made only a short address, entertaining with jokes, and reciting one of his favorite poems, but made only a few comments along the political line, saying that he was saving his speech for the political rally an hour later at the Yoe High school.

Governor was introduced at the rally by T. S. Henderson of this city. Prior to the introduction of Allred to the crowd, short talks were made by Mr. Grover of Lee county, F. L. Henderson of Brazos county and Ed Gunn of Milam county.

Grover said: "Lee County is back of Allred 100 per cent and will stay that way up to the time the polls close."

Henderson said "Brazos county doesn't even know that any other man is running for governor but Allred, and in the primary we believe Allred will have the majority over all other candidates."

Gunn said: "Allred doesn't tell you he is a perfect man, but we have a man in Allred who has tried earnestly and sincerely to carry us through trying times, he has shown strength and courage in tackling the big problems of the state. Milam County will stand by Governor Allred for his return to office for another term."

Seated on the platform wth the Governor and speakers were Mrs. B. P. Matocha, Jim Baskin, of Cameron; R. L. Batte and C. A. Wuesche of Thorndale; Ed Gunn and S. C. Miles of Rockdale; Jimmy Blundell of Waco and Billie Burke, secretary to the Governor.

Governor Allred's speech was of the "fighting" brand, for which he is famous. He said he is confident Texas will overwhelmingly ratify his record and endorse his program, but that he wants to win in the first primary so that he can devote full time and energy to the problems which still lie ahead.

"This campaign has only one issue —performance against promise," he said.

"You know my record. Under my administration the ad valorem tax rate has actually been cut from 77c to 62c an the $100 valuation. The deficit in the available school fund has been wiped out, and the per capita apportionment for our schools has been increased from $16.50 to $18.50, the highest in history.

"I made the most complete report on tax recommendations the Legislature has ever received from any governor. At the special session I again told the Legislature I specifically referred it to my 16-page printed report.

"I have promised to submit to the Campaign Leaders for F. W. Fischer Predict Big Victory

San Antonio, Texas, July 21.—Confidence was expressed by campaign leaders for F. W. Fischer, Tyler gubernatorial candidate, today on the eve of the first Democratic primary election. Political observers throughout the state have conceded the East Texan a place in the run-off, and many Fischer leaders have predicted the Tyler candidate will not only enter the run-off but will lead the ticket in the initial ballot.

Fischer will close his campaign Friday night with a public address in Houston, which will be broadcast over a state-wide hook-up from 8 to 9 p. m. from radio station KPRC. He spoke to a huge gathering at San Antonio Thursday night, similar to the exceptionally large crowds which greeted him on his appearance in Dallas and Fort Worth the past week end.

The reception accorded Fischer on his tour of the state and bright reports from his supporters in virtually every county serve as a basis for the optimism of his leaders. They predict an overwhelming majority for the Tyler candidate in East and Central Texas, and an even break in the balloting in other sections of the state.

The persistent hammering at Fischer by his opponents in the last few weeks of the campaign reveal he is the most feared candidate in the race. Governor Allred has trained his fire on Fischer for weeks, and the other candidates, for the past two weeks, have devoted more time in their speeches to statements in opposition to Fischer than to remarks concerning Allred.

F. W. FISCHER

The program advanced by the Tyler man, a successful attorney and oil operator seeking his first public office, apparently has met with instantaneous approval over the state. He advocates increased taxes on the state's natural resources for the purpose of providing revenue for full, immediate payment of the old age pension, relieving the property owners of the state of their huge tax burden, and balancing the state's budget.

"My plan, Fischer states, "will merely place a fair and adequate tax on the oil, gas, sulphur and other natural resources of this state, which will provide sufficient revenue to not only pay the old age pension, but will abolish state tax on real estate, reduce the state's gasoline tax by half, and increase the salaries of school instructors.

"More than $100,000,000 will be raised annually in the state through this method of taxation, and 90 per cent of this amount will be paid by outsiders as that amount of our natural resources is shipped from Texas into other states and foreign nations and consumed outside of this state. Why not tax these vast natural resources, now controlled by a comparatively few big corporations, before our state is pillaged completely, and an even greater tax burden saddled on the backs of our people.

"The governor says no new taxes are needed, yet the state treasurer's report shows the state of Texas more than $9,500,000 in debt with this indebtedness increasing at the rate of $250,000 monthly."

PROMOTE

Bert Ford

TO THE

STATE SENATE

Approximately 7500 bills and resolutions have been introduced into the House of Representatives and Senate during the 6 years Bert has been a member of the House of Representatives from McLennan County. Many of these bills were vicious, but supported by the Public Utilities and other corporate interests. Bert has always voted in the interest of the people and against special privileges for the few.

He probably voted on thirty or forty thousand bills, resolutions, amendments, conference reports and so forth. His attendance record is one of the best among the membership of the legislature. He has worked many days and nights on conference reports when the house was in session.

Ignorantly or maliciously his votes and attendance record have been misrepresented for the purpose of securing your vote.

Bert Ford's business experience, Legislative experience, Legislative record and ability merit your support for state Senator.

Bert Ford will speak over W-A-C-O Thursday at 6:30 P. M. and Friday at 7:00 P. M. in behalf of his candidacy.

With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cook, Mrs. Walter Henrichsen, and Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Epperson attended the funeral of William Wendt in Brenham on Thursday, July 10.

Mr. Wendt was a brother of Mrs. Cook and a life long friend of Dr. Epperson. He was 60 years of age and was born and reared in Washington county and held the office of tax assessor for 20 years.

Many in Cameron will remember one of his daughters, Miss Laura Wendt, who taught school in this city for two years about ten years ago.

Texas Power & Light Company May Buy Power From Brazos River Generating System

A contract between the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district and the Texas Power and Light Company for the sale of all power to be manufactured by the proposed Brazos dams will be presented to the district for approval Thursday.

Lewis Mims, president of the Brazos board of directors, has called a meeting of the board Thursday to consider the contract. He also has called a meeting of the executive committee in Dallas today and Wednesday to go over final details of the proposed contract.

Negotiations on Some Time

Negotiations between the district and the T. P & L. have been under way for several months and it is understood that the two parties have reached an agreement, subject to ratification by the Brazos directors.

The contract is expected to be ready for presentation Thursday morning.

The eight power producing dams in the project will, when completed, manufacture 30,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per year. Under the contract, it is reported, the T. P. & L. will take the entire output at the switchboard and will take the power of the Possum Kingdom dam in Palo Pinto County as soon as the hydro-electric plant there is completed.

Two Principal Effects

If the contract is successfully concluded, it will have two principal effects:

(1) The district will be relieved of the injunction against it, obtained by several Texas utilities in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

(2) It will give the district the firm basis necessary for floating revenue bonds which will be required to finance the installation of all hydro-electric machinery and equipment.

After a series of negotiations, the executive committee of the district empowered General Manager John A. Norris to thresh out the points in controversy and reach a basis of settlement. Last Friday, at a conference with T. P. & L. officials, a virtual agreement was reached and the contract is now being prepared in accordance with the agreements of last Friday's meeting.

Will Speed Program

Members of the executive committee who, with Mr. Norris and A. Streiff, consulting engineer of the district, have been engaged in the negotiations are Mr. Mims, Henry Dunlavy of Temple, secretary of the district, L. E. Seaman of Mineral Wells, John D. Rogers of Navasota, and W. W. Callan of Waco.

If the contract is executed, the Brazos district will be prepared to move ahead speedily with its program.

Would Release Bonds

By the dismissal of the suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, the district will be able to issue $3,600,000 in bonds against the taxes voted by the legislature from counties in the lower Brazos valley. It also will be able to issue $5,000,000 in outright revenue bonds, based on future income from the sale of power.

So far, only $3,000,000 out of the $30,000,000 approved by President Roosevelt in WPA funds has been made available but district officials hope to have additional funds released by WPA this summer to start other units in the project.

Statement About Benefit Checks

According to J. R. Wagner, Assistant in Cotton Adjustment for Milam County, many producers make special trips to the county agent's office to inquire as to whether or not their checks are there.

From time to time a few of the past due checks are received by the County Agent, and the interested parties are promptly notified that their checks are ready for delivery. This statement has been made in an effort to eliminate unnecessary trips to the County Agent's office by farmers who expect a benefit check and who sometimes travel miles only to learn that their checks have not been received.

As a rule, if a farmer does not receive a notice, he does not have a check. Notices are mailed immediately after checks are received in the County office.

McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower

WE are anxious to have all of our friends see the New McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

Everybody who has seen it says they never had any idea that a mower could be built as this one is.

For example: The entire operating mechanism, including drive gears, differential, and countershafts, is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and flywheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration.

SWIMMING HAZARDS SHOULD BE HEEDED

Austin, July21.—In Texas during 1935, thehe were 371 deaths from accidental drowning, according to records in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. This is an increase of 54 over the number reported for the year 1934, and an increase of 85 over the number reported for 1933.

"While water sports are the greatest of all sports during the summer season, they present certain hazards which should be heeded," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health officer. "Accidental drowning would not occur if each individual respected the fact that water is not man's natural element, and governed his activities in the water by standards of safety.

Certain precautions should be taken by all swimmers:

1. Never swim alone—especially in deserted places where no rescue is available in case of emergency.

2. Do not let young people go out in deep water even if they know how to swim, unless some older person proficient in life saving, is with them.

3. Do not go in bathing directly after eating. Wait two hours before taking the plunge.

4. Do not dive in unfamiliar places until you are sure of the depth of the water and the absence of rocks.

5. Do not overtax your strength—work up gradually to a long swim by strengthening up the muscles first.

6. Do not swim while fatigued.

7. Do not create a hazard for other swimmers by childish pranks and smart tricks.

"Accidental drownings, with few exceptions, occur through lack of proper safeguards or in places without adequate supervision. Take your swim in one of the approved sanitary swimming pools now available in most communities, and help reduce the deaths in Texas from drowning."

Modern Gas Cookery

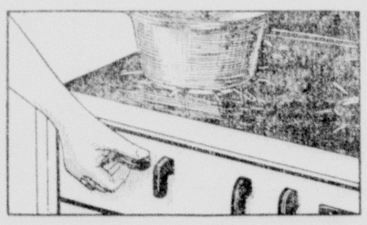
RETAINS HEALTHFUL VITAMINS AND MINERAL OILS

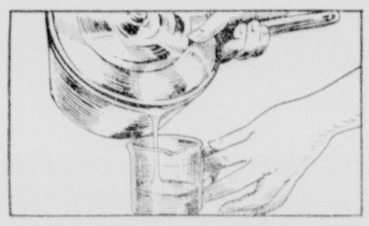
Vigorous boiling in lots of water destroys the valuable vitamin and mineral content of fresh vegetables. The thoughtful woman wants to retain these health-giving elements. The controlled boiling heat which the modern gas range provides does not rapidly evaporate water when boiling vegetables. Mothers can serve more healthful food by following this simple method of modern gas cookery.

1. Cooking vegetables the semi-waterless way on modern gas range requires no special type of utensil.

2. Place vegetables in pan and cover with about one-half inch water.

3. Place covered pan over simmer burner. Turn to fast heat. When boiling starts turn burner to simmering heat which maintains a gentle boiling action retaining healthful vitamins.





4. After cooking is completed nearly as much liquid remains as was originally put into vessel, and there is no loss of valuable mineral oils or vitamins.

5. Gas simmer cookery is clean and labor saving. It means cooler cooking and a cleaner kitchen for there's little escaping steam rising from a covered pot of gently boiling vegetables.

Legislature the need to create a State Agency to carry on the new AAA farm program as required by Federal law after 1937.

"I have ended Texas' off-again on-again off-again on pardons and paroles. My administration has instituted the clemency-by-merit only policy. I have granted paroles to 956 men for merit only, and not one of them has committed a serious offense since his release. I believe this is a wonderful investment in humanity which will pay big dividends. Voluntary parole boards set up in the various counties help the men get jobs and reestablish themselves in society."

Governor Allred said that only the first part of his social security program has been enacted.

The economic security of every Texan is still of supreme importance,," he said. "The rest of my social security program must be enacted. It includes unemployment insurance, dependent children's aid, maternal and child welfare, and aid for the blind.

"I led in the fight for old age pensions. I asked the legislature to submit a constitutional amendment providing for pensions. It submitted an amendment providing for assistance. I got out and campaigned for the adoption of the amendment, when my opponents were out taking a walk.

"Two special sessions of the Legislature were called before I finally got the old age pension law on my desk. When I signed it I said it was not a perfect law, but it was a miracle to get any law when there were so many divergent opinions in the Legislature. I also said that I would call the Legislature when the amount of money needed for permanent financing of the pension system is definitely known. That statement stands. To have called another session before we knew how much money was needed would have meant wasting $150,000 or $200,000 of the taxpayers' money.

"I knew we had enough money to start paying pensions. We couldn't have started any earlier, because one of my opponents voted against the bill when his single vote for it would have given it the two-thirds majority needed in the senate to make it effective immediately. Already pension checks have gone to some 45,000 aged, needy Texans, and others are qualifying daily.

"The Texas pension law has been viciously misrepresented. The facts show that it is one of the most liberal laws in the Union, and that more persons have qualified under it than have qualified in any state except New York and Ohio, in both of which the laws are much older than ours, and in which the population is more dense.

"Our state government is financially sound," Governor Allred continued. "For the general purposes of government, there is no need for new taxes. Within the next two years and without new taxes, the general fund deficit probably will be wiped out entirely. But there is need for permanent financing of the old age pension system. That shall be done without exacting tribute on the necessities of life."

Allred declared that 24 of the 31 planks in the 1934 State Democratic platform on which he was elected have been carried out entirely, two others have been carried out in part and "an honest and sincere effort has been made for the other five. He said that was a batting average of .800 per cent.

The crowd cheered the parallel he drew between his leadership in the fight for pensions and the feeling of a foster parent who has brought up a foundling child

"This baby was left on my doorstep," he said. "I took care of her, protected her, and provided her every advantage within my power. No one knew how she would turn out, so everyone was quite willing for me to carry the burden.

"But now this door step baby has blossomed into a lovely girl with lots of friends and votes, and those same opponents of mine who were taking a walk last summer, are dancing and singing: "Yes, sir, she's my baby! No, sir, don't mean maybe! Yes, sir, she's my baby now!"

He retired from barbering in 1897 with a fortune of $200,000, all of which he earned from his trade. As a result of his discovery his small shop was converted into a magnificent establishment. French women often paid hundreds of francs for a few minutes of his time. Lady Lenox of London is said to have paid his expenses to England and a fee of $600 for one wave. In the beginning Grateau charged but 10 cents for his services. As his work grew in popularity he charged whatever he felt he could get, depending on the ability of his customers to pay.

Eradication of Noxious Weeds

The State Committee has recently approved the practice of eradication of land badly infested with Johnson grass, Bermuda grass, and nut grass. Special emphasis has been placed upon the fact that land used must be crop land. Meadows are not eligible. Land to which this practice is applied may be substituted acre for acre, in lieu of soil conserving crops.

One of the approved methods consists of flat-breaking the infested land, followed by intensive cultivation during the months of July, August and September with a knife cultivator or disk harrow.

The other method that may be used in that the infested land be bedded or re-bedded with a sweep or "middle buster" at intervals of not more than 30 days, followed each time by a harrow in order to expose the roots to the weather.

Self-explanatory forms to be used in conenction with eradiction work are available at the County Agent's office. The forms must be executed in duplicate and filed with the County Agent before eradication work is started. Forms will be mailed on request.

"WALK ON YOUR LEFT CAMPAIGN HAS MILAM COUNTY SPONSOR

A letter comes to us from Roy Law calling attention to the fact of the importance of educating the public to the need of walking on the left side of the highways and roads, so that a pedestrian will meet approaching traffic. It is the only wise, safe and proper way for a person on foot to travel the highways.

Mr. Law further states that everything possible has been done to protect the motorist in the way of warning signs, information signs, overpasses, underpasses, and in time of danger special guards to protect, but so far nothing has been done to protect or warn the poor fellow on foot, who by chance of circumstances is forced to walk the highway on foot.

A suggestion is made that small signs might be placed on the mile posts, now standing to mark the highways, of such proportions that a motorist's attention would not be called to them, but the pedestrian would easily see and read as he read the signs to see the distances to the places he wished to go.

Many people are killed each year because no one has told them of the wisdom of walking on the left side of the road, so that they meet the approaching traffic rather than have their backs to it.

Rare, indeed is the motorist, who, at one time or another, has not been partially or totally blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and missed by inches a person walking on the right side of the road.

The above suggested signs are being used in many states of the Union one of which is Arkansas, and if such a program could save only one life a year, it would still be worth the price.

Each day finds many persons on the highways and we can not begin too soon to make the highways safe for pedestrians, as well as for motorists.

You are only one among many, but your efforts coupled with those of your neighbor and your neighbor's neighbor will help towards starting a vast educational program toward teaching the man on foot to use the left side of the road for his traveling.

Teachers and parents and leaders of youth organizations may do much towards teaching the youngsters this safer way to use the highways.

Pay Old Age Pensions In Full Says Jesse James In Race For Another Term

I consider it my sacred duty to work for the payment of the old age pension, and will make it my principal effort in the coming session to see that this legislation is properly supported by revenue so that no aged person in my district or elsewhere in Texas will be deprived of what they are justly entitled under the constitutional amendment voted by the people.

I favor an old age pension law writen in the language of the constitution; giving it to every man and woman in Texas who has lived here the required time, and who is 65 years of age, who is not an habitual drunkard, nor an habitual criminal and who is not an inmate of a state supported institution. These men and women who have passed the 65th milestone are the survivors of a noble people who made and built Texas. These men and women have done their part. It is not their fault that the time has come when it is hard even for the able bodied brainy business man to make a living. These men and women deserve the modest pension voted them by the people of Texas last year. They have earned it and I want Texas to honor herself by paying it.

I wrote and passed through the House (House Bill 46) providing for the immediate payment of the old age pension. With a tax on sulphur, oil, gas, public utilities, and all the natural resources and special interest to pay the old age pension. This tax should have raised approximately thirty million ($30,000,000) dollars. Would have cost the tax payers of Texas practically nothing because about 85 per cent of these natural resources are sold out of Texas. This bill passed the House, reference page 160 Second Call Session of the 44th Legislature. Had my bill H. B. 46 passed the Senate as we sent it to them every person past 65 years of age would be receiving full payment pensions now.

I voted for the present pension bill on final passage that it might receive hundred votes, reference page 288. I thought this bill would be better than no bill at all. Before voting for final passage I wrote with assistance of others an amendment to the bill asking the House of Representatives to refuse to adopt the bill, and send it back to the free conference committee, with the instructions that they cut out or re-write section nine (9) of the bill, this section restricted it to the needy, and read as follows: "Wherein the assistance is to be granted in such amounts as will provide a resonable subsistence in keeping with the accustomed standard of living of the applicant." Under this Sec. for example a needy farmer who has always worked hard and paid his taxes, but has been able to provide only $4.00 to $6.00 per month to spend would be restricted to such amount. Whereas a spendthrift who has always spent everything he could get hold of would get the maximum amount. If the House had adopted my amendment and sent the bill back to the free conference committee with instruction to rewrite this section and leave out the needy clause, and substitute in its place an appropriation of five million ($5,000,000) dollars out of the general funds and start payment of pensions not later than January 1, 1936—in other words, you would have been getting your pension all this year. Reference to the above amendment you can find it on page 287 Second Call Session of the 44th Legislature.

My conception of public duty is that as your representative I have at all times served you faithfully and will continue to do so. I will greatly appreciate your vote and support.
